West Florida Healthcare Honors Nurses with “The DAISY Award for Extraordinary Nurses”

(PENSACOLA, FL) Two West Florida Healthcare nurses were recently honored with The DAISY Award for Extraordinary Nurses. The award is part of the DAISY Foundation's international program that recognizes the remarkable efforts nurses perform every day.

West Florida Healthcare is proud to announce that Chad Barden, RN (Nursing/House Supervisor) and Angela Nunnally, RN (CCU) were recently honored as the hospital's latest DAISY Award recipients. According to the selection committee, both nurses were chosen for their compassion for their patients and family members as well as their exceptional clinical skills and positive attitudes.

Six times a year, deserving nurses are selected by a group of former nursing award winners at West Florida Healthcare to receive The DAISY Award. Nurses may be nominated by patients, family members, physicians or co-workers. Honorees will receive a certificate commending them for being an "Extraordinary Nurse" at a special presentation given in front of their respective colleagues, physicians, patients and visitors. Honorees will also receive a hand-carved sculpture called "A Healer's Touch."

"We are proud to be among the hospitals participating in the DAISY Award program," said Karen White-Trevino, Chief Nursing Officer at West Florida Hospital. "Nurses are heroes every day. It's important that our nurses know their work is highly valued, and The DAISY Foundation provides an additional way for us to do that."

The not-for-profit DAISY Foundation is based in Glen Ellen, California, and was established by family members in memory of J. Patrick Barnes. Patrick died at the age of 33 in late 1999 from complications of Idiopathic Thrombocytopenic Purpura (ITP), a little known but not uncommon auto-immune disease. The care Patrick and his family received from nurses while he was ill inspired this unique means of thanking nurses for making a profound difference in the lives of their patients and their families.

One day while Pat was in the hospital, he asked his family to bring him a Cinnabon® cinnamon roll plus enough for all the nurses in his unit. With the help of Cinnabon's parent company, FOCUS Brands, The DAISY Foundation carries on this tradition by serving Cinnabons to all the nurses in the Award recipient's unit in thanks for everything they do for their patients and families.

Said Bonnie Barnes, President and Co-Founder of The DAISY Foundation, "When Patrick was critically ill, our family experienced first-hand the remarkable skill and care nurses provide patients every day and night. Yet these unsung heroes are seldom recognized for the super-human work they do. The kind of work the nurses at West Florida Hospital are called on to do every day epitomizes the purpose of The DAISY Award."

This is one initiative of The DAISY Foundation whose overall goal is to help fight diseases of the immune system. Additionally, DAISY offers J. Patrick Barnes Grants for Nursing Research and Evidence-Based Practice Projects and provides assistance to ITP support groups.
