Tornado Relief Benefit Concert

PENSACOLA, FL – Beatles tribute band, Not Quite Fab, to headline a tornado relief benefit with special guests. The concert takes place on Sunday, March 6, 2016 from 1:00 – 4:00 pm at Saint Christopher's Episcopal Church located at 3200 N. 12th Avenue. There is no charge to attend, however the Red Cross will be on hand to answer questions and accept donations.

Attendees are asked to bring a blanket or lawn chair and their beverage of choice. All funds raised during this event will be used to help local families rebuild after the devastating storm. The concert, organized by Blues Angel Music, will serve as the vehicle for fund raising, but will also help people to unwind.

"With hurricane season just around the corner, it's important for all of us to remember that it may be us next time" said Nan DeStafney, owner of Blues Angel Music. "Part of the price of living in such a beautiful place is being willing to help others in times of need."

About the Storm

On Tuesday, February 23rd, an EF-3 tornado moved on a two-mile path through Pensacola from Northpointe Blvd. to Scenic Hwy. destroying apartments, town homes, houses, and businesses, leaving hundreds without shelter and thousands without power. This, just one week after a similar storm moved through the area causing extensive damage.
