NAS PENSACOLA OBSERVES SEXUAL ASSAULT AWARENESS AND PREVENTION MONTH

PENSACOLA, FLA. --- Naval Air Station Pensacola will present “Can I Kiss You?”, a highly regarded interactive training presentation dealing with issues of sexual assault, prevention and response Friday, April 22 at 1 p.m., in the Naval Air Technical Training Center’s Chevalier Hall (Mega Building). Media is invited to attend this event and speak with presenter, Mike Domitrz.

The innovative training approach shifts the focus from a “Don’t” perspective to “How-to” knowledge on sexual issues and is being presented in conjunction with the Department of Defense’s April-long observance of Sexual Assault Awareness and Prevention Month (SAAPM). The presentation is part of the Date Safe Project (www.datesafeproject.org) recognized by the Department of Defense and the U.S. Navy.

NAS Pensacola Fleet and Family Support Center’s Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (SAPR) Team will also host other events through the month.
