BUSINESS SOLUTIONS PUBLISHES ARTICLE BY LOCAL INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY EXPERT

ROBERTSDALE, AL (June 15, 2016) - Business Information Solutions (BIS) is excited to announce that Business Solutions – a national publication created for IT channel companies – recently published an article on data protection for land title insurers written by Phillip Long, a local expert in the information technology industry and owner of Gulf Coast-based BIS.

“Data security is no joke,” states Long. “Already, we’ve seen organizations like the Office of Civil Rights cracking down on medical practices for not protecting patient health information, it’s only a matter of time before other regulatory organizations do the same. Whether it’s a customer’s social security number or medical diagnosis, this information needs to be secure.”

To answer the need for data security, BIS works with local businesses to implement a complete security umbrella consisting of desktop security, application and patch management, secure login and file auditing, mobile device encryption, SPAM and smart firewalls, open DNS filtering, email security and end-user training.

“No matter the size of a business or the industry it’s in, all organizations should make data security one of their top priorities.” said Phillip Long, owner of BIS Technology Group (BIS). (photo: Phillip Long)
