Economics column by Allison Tyler Romer

Since Great Recession, Pensacola has lagged in new business “births”

Pensacola, Fla. – Sept. 1, 2016 – In a new column, Haas Center Economic Development Coordinator Allison Tyler Romer looks at post-recession new business starts—or “births”—in communities throughout the country. Romer finds relatively few new business births in the years following the Great Recession of 2007–09—particularly in the Pensacola area. Her article can be accessed through the UWF Center for Research and Economic Opportunity website.
